

Marcellus Pleasant

Marcellus Pleasant is currently the President and CEO of Virtual Media Productions, a company formed as a joint venture partnership with US Global Media Group, dba Ad Networks of Georgia. He serves as the Engineering and Installations manager for the Ad Networks of Georgia.

Marcellus was previously employed with Diebold Inc. from November 1987 until March 2010. Diebold develops, implements, and services the world's most advanced self-service and security delivery systems. He managed a team of technicians responsible for servicing Financial Institutions in the Greater Atlanta area.

Marcellus also held the position of Implementation Coordinator for several years with Diebold. His duties included developing relationships with businesses to assess their needs, supply an electronic solution and coordinate the installation and training.

Marcellus uses his expertise as Engineering and Installations Manager to aid the USGMG Team in delivering excellent technology solutions to our clients.

Marcellus also volunteered his expertise as the Senior Project Manager, coordinating the successful launch of the DeKalb Academy of Technology and Environment, a Premier Charter school in Stone Mountain Georgia.
